

Whatever happened to competition and Free Enterprise? Satellite radio is a positive good to consumers. It is absurd that the NAB should seek to enlist the government's help to stifle competition, especially considering that NAB's members are the beneficiaries of the public airwaves.